STATE CONVENTION FOR ADULT BIBLE CLASSES

FIRST ANNUAL SESSION TO BE HELD IN DALLAS FEB. 24 TO 27.

RALLIES IN OTHER TOWNS

Main Feature Will Be Banquet for 1,000 Workers on Friday Night, February 25.

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 24.—The first annual State convention of adult and teen age organized Bible classes at Dallas, Feb. 24 to 27, is being advertised this week by the most complete visitation campaign ever attempted in Texas.

Teams of workers from Dallas and Temple and other pivotal points are making trips to county seats and the larger towns, where rallies are held with the local 'Sunday school workers. Then committees are formed in each of these county seat towns who are preparing to send out other teams of workers to the villages and towns in their respective counties.

In this way a majority of the 1,068,000 men, women and children who are enrolled in the 8,500 Sunday schools of all denominations in Texas will have the opportunity of hearing something of what the big convention in Dallas will mean.

These rallies that are being held in the smaller towns are interesting and instructive Sunday school conferences, led by experienced workers and will serve as a forerunner of the real feast.

At the convention which will begin here at the First Presbyterian Church Thursday morning, Feb. 24, the world's greatest leader of adult Bible classes, W. C. Pearce of Chicago, will speak many times in mass meetings and in group conferences on all phases of organized Bible class work.

Mrs. W. G. Moody of Galveston, is one of the leading women speakers, and the Rev. Charles D. Bulla of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will bring messages of new ideas.

Watch for your rally to be announced in your own Sunday school and do not fail to attend, as the beacon lights of Christian progress in Sunday school work are being lighted in this series of rallies, which will reach the climax at Dallas at the State convention.

Among the convention features will be a great Sunday school workers' banquet Friday night at 6:30 o'clock at the beautiful Scottish Rite Cathedral on South Harwood street, one block from the convention church.

This banquet will be one of the great events of the year in Sunday School activities. M. H. Wolfe of Dallas, one of the greatest Baptist laymen in the South, a man of commanding commercial, financial and religious position in the Southwest, and president of the Texas Sunday School Association, will be toastmaster.

Cullen H. Thomas, a leading lawyer of Dallas, will speak at a great mass meeting for men Thursday night on "The Men of Texas for the Man of Gallilee."

Many towns are to be visited this week. See if your town is among them. They are: Farmersville, Celeste, Commerce, Wolfe City, Paris, Honey Grove, Bonham, Whitesboro, and Weatherford.

Sunday rallies will be held in these towns: Sherman, Van Alstyne, Cleburne, Mineral Wells, Terrell, Willis Point, Handley, Arlington, Parney, Gainesville, Pilot Point, Fort Worth, Midlothian, Hillsboro, Milford, Corsicana, Rice, Mesquite, Grand Prairie, Cedar Hill, Lancaster, Hutchins, Wilmer, Seagoville, Kleburg, Irving and Carrollton.

Next week these towns will have rallies for the Sunday school workers: Kemp, Kaufman, Grand Saline, Mineola, Rockwall, Royce City, Greenville, Sulphur Springs, Alvarado, Ennis, Itasca, Lewisville, Denton, Decatur, Bowie, Henrietta, Wichita Falls, Tehuacana and Mexia.

Read the names carefully for your own city and watch for the dates to be announced by your superintendent or pastor.

Mr. Wolfe, the State president, and William Nehemiah Wiggins, State secretary, are leading an army of organized volunteer workers in Dallas and throughout the State who look forward to the greatest Sunday school meeting ever held in the Lone Star State.

The convention will demonstrate that the Sunday school for "women and children alone" has developed into a mammoth training school that enlists some of the biggest, brainiest and best men in Texas or in the world.

There will be new ideas, new living, burning messages and new programs of Christian progress outlined at the Dallas meeting that will mark a new era in Texas organized class work.

3,000 Bible Students Expected, Dallas, Texas, Feb. 10.—A gathering of at least 3,000 out-of-town visitors is expected when the state convention of the adult and teen age Bible classes meet in Dallas Feb. 24 to 27. During the last week teams of workers have been visiting nearby towns, where they organized local committees and held rallies for the purpose of increasing interest in the State gathering.

FARMERS DENOUNCE LOONEY'S ADMINISTRATION

HEAD OF UNION SCORES ATTORNEY GENERAL FOR POLITICAL SUITS.

Claims He Is An Enemy to the Organized Farmer.

Fort Worth—Characterizing Mr. Looney's administration as a failure from the farmers' viewpoint, and charging that official with having made "legal criminals out of more honest men than any one who ever administered the law in the history of Texas," H. N. Pope, President of the Farmers' Union of Texas, yesterday issued a statement to the membership of his organization urging them to cast their ballot for Mr. Looney's opponent in the coming primaries. Mr. Pope's statement follows:

"The Farmers' Union as an organization is non-political and non-sectarian, but all officers and members of the Union are expected and urged to perform their civic and religious duties, and they do so without in any manner committing the Union to their views. Any member of the Union owes first allegiance to government, and no member of our organization can render the most capable service to the cause of agriculture who neglects his duty as a citizen.

"In the present campaign I consider the issues involved in the contest for Attorney General of paramount importance to the farmers of Texas, and after giving due consideration to men and measures at issue, I have concluded to cast my ballot for Hon. John W. Woods for Attorney General of the State of Texas.

"The prohibition question is not an issue in this contest, for there are only two candidates, and both of them, like myself, are prohibitionists, and I am sure that no candidate for office can afford to damage our cause by injecting factional fights within the prohibition party. The elimination of the prohibition question leaves every man, pro or anti, to pass judgment upon the business issues involved in the campaign, which the people of Texas should settle at the polls. That question is, shall the anti-trust law be used for political or business purposes? Shall it be used to prevent unfair competition, or to build up a political machine? We have, during Mr. Looney's administration, witnessed almost continuous prosecution of the business interests, numerous pains, penalties, fines, compromises, etc., have been imposed. He has made legal criminals out of more honest men than any official who ever administered the law in the history of Texas. The newspapers have carried inspired articles, under Austin date lines, announcing great victories for the people, but I defy Attorney General Looney to show any one has profited by his litigation, except the lawyers and Looney's political friends whom he has forced on the official roster and on the pay roll of corporations.

Looney's Suits Great Victories for the Lawyer.

"These anti-trust suits have been great victories for the lawyers. Many thousands of dollars have gone to them in fees; political debts have been paid; industry stifled; the people deluded; and an effort has been made to build up a political machine to levy toll against the people. When the politicians dance around the flash pot of industry, the farmer pays the fiddler.

"The most important litigation, from the standpoint of penalties collected, was that of the suits against the oil companies. Happily in this particular instance, as in most all other cases, every farmer can do his own investigating. He does not need political mathematicians to figure it out for him. The lamp that illuminates his bedside will give him all the light he needs on the subject, for every farm home consumes the products around which these law suits have swung. The farmer knows the price he pays for kerosene since these suits were filed was never higher, and his newspaper informs him that the dividends of the oil companies was never greater. The same may be said of farm machinery, implements, lumber, vehicles and all commodities the farmer buys, and which at any time has been involved in anti-trust litigation.

"The problem is a business one, and the farmer has full information in his possession, and it is for him to say whether he wants his government run in the interest of the people, or in the interest of the politicians.

"Mr. Looney has proved to be an enemy of the organized farmer. He has tried to discredit the Union and its officials. He has endeavored to embarrass our work and prevent the railroads leasing transportation to the Farmers' Union delegates attending conventions and to all citizens attending any gathering that seeks to promote agriculture, as well as denying passes to railroad employees and others. When beaten in the lower courts he has appealed to the higher courts to deny the farmers the rights granted them by the legislature, and I know of no one except Mr. Looney who objects to this last
